Special Desputch to Tue Scn. Gamsware, Conn., Aug. 11. Follow- Owing to the war and the calling off in the wake of the New Rochelle of the annual cruise of the Yacht Racing in the wake of the New Rochelle Yacht Club, which was the first organization to give an open yacht race on Long Island Sound this summer, the Indian Harbor Yacht Club broke into the from to-day and held a regutta for the handlesp class of Long Island Sound ever its outside course off Great Captain's Island.

Although there are generally breazes here in August, the weather conditions were typical of a July afternoon. There was practically no breeze at all, and it was long after suppet when the last craft came diffting across the firsh line. SIM it was a race, and showed that the Indian Harbor Corinthians are trying to live up to the suggestion made by Presi-

Navat Officers Officiate at New York Cance Club Regatta.

There was quite a navy touch to the annual regatta of the New York Cance Club, sailed on Gravesend Bay yesterday afternoon. Emsign John R. Brophy timed the yachts and Quariermaster H. Peterson looked out for the signals. Both who are now in the United States Naval Resurve force, assisted W. Yelland, chairman of the regatta committee, in his work, which owing to the few starters was not particularly strenuous.

Only two of the handicap and four of the knockabouts came to the starting time off the Atlantic Yacht Club at Sea Gate. BOY FIGHTS SWORDFISH.

on His First Trip.

BOLTON, Aug. 11.—An experience in swordfishing not exactly encouraging fell to the lot of Harold Paulson, 16 years old, on his first trip as a bank fisherman. The boy is one of the crew of the schooner Katie Palmer, which arrived at the fish pier with seventy-two swordfish. Capt. Albert Smith reported the incident, and showed a dory with a hole punched in the bottom to bear him out. Young Paulson put off from the schooner in a dory to put the finishing touches to a big swordfish which had been harpooned. Armed with a lilyiron, the boy approached the fish, which was thrushing about in the water in pain from the harpoon in its side. A blow from Paulson's implement infuristed it the more, and the fish charged the dory, driving its long sword through the bottom of the boat. The sword penetrated close to one of the boy's
